Filmmaker Position

3 month paid Internship into Permanent Position

Internship:  £1,000 per month
Contract:    £19,000 per annum

Fantastic opportunity for a Film Production graduate to join a small video production team. We are seeking a filmmaker to join our team, support our creative producer on larger projects and shoot/edit independently.

ABOUT US

Blueprint Film are an award winning video production company creating branded content, documentary film and social media campaigns. With clients ranging from global brands to social enterprises, we have the experience, ideas and passion to understand audiences and deliver fresh and engaging video productions. Complimenting our video production facilities, we also supply live video streaming services for sports and events, manage cultural events and produce original content in the form of feature length films.

Blueprint Film is a company that love ideas, we are able to translate complex briefs into compelling content thanks to our talented and devoted creative team and their diverse skill sets and backgrounds. We have the enthusiasm and vision to explore, innovate and create content that surpass client briefs and engage audiences. We are firm believers in removing the perceived boundaries surrounding digital content; instead of questioning whether it can be achieved, we find out how and when. Successful video content is a powerful medium and can transform the way a company, product or charitable aim is conveyed. We want to help people harness that power.

We are based in Clerkenwell, Farringdon, a vibrant creative area that’s well connected and great place to work from.

ABOUT YOU

The successful candidate should be educated to degree level in Film Production (or similar). In addition, you will need excellent time and project management skills, strong communication and above all, a passion for filmmaking.

We are looking for people who are really going to contribute and add value and not paint by numbers.

Essential
- An excellent camera operator - technically and creatively, with a showreel to prove it
- A competent FCPX editor
- To be innovative / creative / inquisitive to push forward new initiatives…and not fear failure

Desirable
- Additional media skills - animation, motion graphics, familiar with relevant software i.e. After Effects, Illustrator etc
- Workshop Experience - whether working with young people, or/and training people on how to use equipment/software
- Any additional post-production skills - grading, sound design/mixing etc.

ABOUT THE JOB
The role will be working under our Creative Producer and will entail a variety of duties, developing over time. From assisting on shoots through to self-shooting and editing projects.

Filmmaking with the Community
One aspect of the job will be working with our Foundation - making documentaries and short films within communities around London. This will be working alongside a creative workshop leader who will be leading and managing the projects; with the successful applicant filming and editing the work, and often guiding members of the community to making film content.

APPLICATION DETAILS
Please send your CV and a covering letter (including your contact details) to jobs@blueprintfilm.co.uk

These, together, should outline previous similar experience to the role and how you meet the essential requirements.

If you have any questions you should also direct them to us using the above address by Friday 29th June, 5pm. All questions will be outlined and answered on the job advertisement page, on our website, www.blueprintfilm.co.uk by Friday 29th June.

Application Deadline: 30th June 2018, 5pm